Jaunt, Inc. CEO, Brad Sheffield, will be presenting a new transit concept to the Planning Commission as part of a community-wide engagement strategy. This new service, OnDemand, will work within the bigger ecosystem of transit services currently provided by Jaunt, CAT, and UTS.

The initial approach will focus mainly on addressing existing service gaps and improving the customer experience, supplementing fixed-route and demand-response bus service. However, we believe that this concept will grow and evolve to meet needs we have not yet identified today, ultimately connecting people all over our region to where they want to go, when they want to get there.
