Marcia,
Thank you for talking through the subject property. I know you and I already went over the below information on the phone but wanted to follow up with an email as well.

Thanks again,

David

Thank you Nathan.

Given there are no safety concerns that would rise to the level of holding occupancy off, I am contacting the owner to let her know she can return to staying in the house as of today. All the other required items of plumbing permit and inspection are still required.

Thank you ALL for working through this, especially since it seemed to take on a life of its own.

David,

After our site visit, I am comfortable with only needing a plumbing permit for the repair work. No mechanicals were touched during the clean-up process.
